AN EXHIBITION

MUSEE DE L'IFAN

JANUARY 28 - FEBRUARY 12, 1993

Cleve Overton is a former Adjunct Professor at the Department of Performing and Creative Arts of the City University of New York (Bernard Baruch College and College of Staten Island). He also was an owner/instructor in the Earthworks Pottery Studios on Staten Island.

Mr. Overton has exhibited in many U.S. cities, both his own work and his private collection of African masks. The collages in this show have all been produced in Senegal since 1991.

Mr. Overton's current project is a photographic study entitled "The Doors of Senegal", hosted by the Sorano National Theater on January 15, 1993. He hopes to find a sponsor to publish the study in a photographic book.
